VETLEARN - An e-learning course for veterinarians working with hobby farmers

Veterinarians, hobby farmers and backyard livestock is an e-learning course as part of a national initiative between the Department of Primary Industries, Animal Health Australia and the Australian Veterinary Association.

It is a two-hour online course that provides veterinarians with the confidence and resources to build their business and improve engagement with hobby farmers, smallholders and clients with backyard livestock. The course will help veterinarians improve biosecurity outcomes with smallholders, resulting in early detection of disease.

This free course is relevant to all veterinarians nationally and will earn 2 CPD or VETED points.
